A Misdemeanor Art Student.
[From Life.]
Old Georges (severely)—Harry, I am sorry you have deceived me so. I followed you from your studio to the house, and noticed that you entered.

It is very flattering to me that you should recognize me when you have not seen me since we met at the seaside three years ago. Would you mind telling me what is that has kept my image fresh in your memory all this time?

Why, you have got on the same shabby coat and old-fashioned stovepipe hat you wore three years ago.
